FLUO SPINNING from the age of 5

A striking method of creating abstract artworks!

The canvas is placed on a circular, electric rotating table. Paint is applied by splashing it with a brush, pouring it through special templates, or letting it flow while the table spins.

The rotational movement causes the colors to radiate outward, blend together, and form one-of-a-kind patterns – every piece is unique!

Paint with fluorescent paints under UV.

POURING ASSEMBLAGE

Assemblage is a technique that uses everyday objects in art – and are there any better everyday objects than cars?!

You can use your own 1:64 scale model or choose one from a selection available on site. Prepare acrylic paints to the right consistency and spread them across the canvas, creating patterns left by the car model as it moves. Finish by placing the car in its final position, completing your unique artwork.

Finished artworks can be collected after 14 days.
